Micky Arison

Managing General Partner

On the day the Arison Family solidified its control of the Miami HEAT, Micky Arison, Miami's 46 year-old Managing General Partner, put forth a mandate to the entire Miami HEAT organization — that the HEAT was going to be a model franchise for all sports teams and an organization that would be first class in each and every way.

A COMMITMENT TO EXCELLENCE

Arison didn't take long to make good on that promise, hiring the NBA's most successful coach, Pat Riley, to guide the HEAT's future as the team's new President and Head Coach. Arison first showed his commitment to making the HEAT first class in February by hiring Dave Wohl as Executive Vice President, Basketball Operations and promoting Pauline Winick to Executive Vice President, Business Operations on just his second day as Managing General Partner. He also set forth the goal that this franchise was going to be one of which all Miami would be proud.

A high standard of excellence and commitment is a guiding philosophy of the Carnival Corporation where, as Chairman/ CEO, Micky Arison oversees diversified travel and tourism holdings, including 23 cruise ships marketed under four different brand names, as well as the largest tour operator and hotel chain in Alaska and the Yukon territory. In addition, as Chairman of the International Council of Cruise Lines (ICCL), a Washington, D.C.-based trade group, he oversees the cruise industry's efforts on legislative issues.

Like his father, Ted, Micky grew up in the shipping business. But unlike his father, who never particularly wanted a career in the industry, Micky embraced the business and spent the better part of two decades learning it from the ground up.

A SUCCESSFUL LEADER

Arison followed his education with a two-year stint in the Carnival Cruise Lines sales department. He became Reservations Manager in 1974, and took over the post of Vice President of Passenger Traffic in 1976, succeeding to the presidency of Carnival in 1979. In 1990, he was appointed Chairman by the company's Board of Directors.

Under his direction, Carnival Cruise Lines has introduced nine new ships since 1982 — tripling capacity and making it the largest, most successful cruise line in the world.

Following the introduction of the fourth vessel, Arison took the company public raising $400 million for future expansion. The company continued its growth through the traditional avenue of new ship building and also began to diversify into land-based resort operations. But Arison also sought to expand the company's cruise operations by entering new market segments of the industry.

BUILDING CARNIVAL INTO THE WORLD'S BEST

By early 1989, Arison engineered the acquisition of the venerable Holland America Line giving Carnival entree to the premium segment of the cruise industry. That acquisition included the three-ship fleet of upscale Windstar Cruises. Carnival Corporation also holds an equity position in the ultra-luxury Seabourn Cruise Line based in Oslo, Norway. Arison's keen attention to marketing and growth priorities has resulted in nearly tripling revenues in a six year period, as the company closes in on the $2 billion mark.

Having succeeded in positioning Carnival at the top of the cruise industry, Arison is now enthusiastically leading THE HEAT in the same direction as the franchise looks to dominate the sports world.

Pat Riley

President and Head Coach

On September 2, 1995, the Miami HEAT made its boldest move to set the tone for its future by hiring Pat Riley, the winningest coach in professional sports, as its President and Head Coach. Suddenly in the dead of summer, South Florida was buzzing with excitement about basketball because Riley, the man whose name is synonymous with success, was coming to town.

TURNING THE HEAT INTO THE BEST

As one of the premier coaches in the NBA, Riley is responsible for the HEAT's basketball operations but he faces a new challenge as its President.

"When we took over the franchise last February, I said that we were steadfast in our commitment to do whatever was necessary to turn the HEAT into an organization that our fans and all of South Florida would be proud of. I think there is no better demonstration of that commitment than presenting to our fans today, the most successful coach in the NBA as the new Head Coach of the Miami HEAT," said Micky Arison, Managing General Partner on September 2.

Riley's commitment to success is well documented. According to a 1990 survey of league GMs and coaches, Riley is widely regarded as the coach who gets the most out of his talent, and he has made an art of motivating his players. He believes that teamwork is essential in attaining success on the court.

"One of my basic philosophies is that you're either with us or against us in reference to the team. Is the team with the management and coaching staff and will they do whatever it takes to be a winner? We're in it together. A house divided will not stand. You're either in or out. That is the essence of a team," Riley has said.

It is his goal and determination to turn the HEAT into one of the elite teams in the NBA and to turn the entire franchise into a model for all sports teams to emulate.

NO ONE WORKS HARDER WITH MORE SUCCESS

It is his philosophy and deep belief in hard work that have earned him the respect and admiration of his players, peers and fans. They are also the elements the HEAT has been looking for since its inaugural season.

His hard work has earned him a career winning percentage of .717, which is the best in NBA history and the best in professional sports. He has compiled a 756-299 career record and has more victories and appearances in NBA playoff games than any coach in league history. His teams have made the NBA Finals eight times and the Conference Finals in 10 of his 13 seasons. His four NBA Championships place him third on the all-time list behind Boston's Red Auerbach (9) and Minneapolis' John Kundla (5).

In Riley, the HEAT get a coach with 13 years of head coaching experience. He spent the last four as the head coach of the New York Knicks, leading them to the NBA Finals in 1993. During his tenure with the Knicks, Riley coached them to three consecutive Atlantic Division titles in his first three years, finishing second in 1994-95. His hard work earned him his second NBA Coach of the Year honor in 1992-93. In his first season with the team, the Knicks improved from 39 victories to 51. He has won at least 50 games each of his 13 seasons as a head coach.

FOUR NBA TITLES IN L.A.

Prior to leading the Knicks, Riley was the head coach of the Los Angeles Lakers and was the one who guided the team to four NBA titles and three other NBA Finals during its glory years. After taking over for Paul Westhead 11 games into the 1981-82 season, he led the Lakers to the NBA Championship. L.A. became the first team to win 60 games in four consecutive seasons under Riley. He also won every division title during his nine years coaching the Lakers. In 1989-90, Riley was honored as the NBA Coach of the Year.

After leaving the Lakers following the 1889-90 season, Riley served as co-host of "NBA Showtime" on NBC for one year before joining the Knicks in 1991.

ONE WORLD CHAMPIONSHIP AS A PLAYER

Riley had an extensive pro career, playing nine years in the NBA. He was the first-round pick (seventh overall) by the San Diego Rockets in the 1967 NBA Draft. After three seasons in San Diego, he joined the Los Angeles Lakers' 1970-71 campaign, where he played five seasons and was a member of the 1971-72 Lakers that won a record 33 consecutive games and the NBA Championship. Riley finished his playing career with the Western Conference Champion Phoenix Suns in 1976.

Born in Schenectady, NY, Riley attended Linton High School where he became a two-sport star in basketball and football. He was a member of the Linton basketball team that beat historic power Memorial High and center Lew Alcindor, who, as Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, would later lead Riley's Lakers to greatness.

LEARNED FROM THE BEST

Riley was a star collegiate player at the University of Kentucky from 1963-67. He earned team MVP honors three seasons for the Wildcats and averaged 22 ppg on Kentucky's famed "Rupp's Runts" squad that made the NCAA Finals. He was an 11th round-draft choice of the NFL's Dallas Cowboys, although he never played football in college. His brother, Lee, played defensive back in the NFL and his father, Leon, was a major league catcher and minor league manager in the Phillies' chain.

Along with and his wife, Chris, Riley is involved with numerous charity and community service projects. Their work in drug prevention programs have included developing D.A.R.E. programs in Inglewood, CA, and upstate New York. They are also active in S.A.D.D. and Amnesty International. Riley serves on the Board of Directors of the Magic Johnson AIDS Foundation, which also involves the Pediatric AIDS Foundation. He has received many prestigious awards, including the Miami Project Sports Legend Award in 1992.

Riley has authored two books, "Showtime," and most recently, "The Winner Within," which was published prior to the 1993-94 season. In addition, Riley spends his off seasons giving motivational speeches to various business organizations. Pat and Chris have two children, James Patrick, 10, and Elisabeth Marie, 7.

Pauline Winick

Executive Vice President, Business Operations

The last two decades have brought explosive growth to the entire South Florida community and HEAT Executive Vice President, Business Operations Pauline Winick has played an active role in its business, political and cultural growth.

A SOUTH FLORIDA SUCCESS

Winick's career in South Florida has seen her switch careers several times, from being a producer at WPLG-TV to several high-ranking roles in local governments to a top administrative role in the Miami HEAT. At each place she has left an indelible mark on the South Florida community.

A native of Brooklyn, N Y, Winick began her career as a teacher in the New York and Indiana public school systems after receiving a B.A. degree from Brooklyn College in 1966 and a Masters' Degree in Comparative Literature from New York University in 1970.

She moved to South Florida in 1974 and began interning at WPLG-TV, the Miami/Fort Lauderdale ABC-TV affiliate, while she earned a degree in Radio and TV Technology at Miami-Dade Community College. At WPLG-TV, she was elevated to the role of producer and helped produce the award-winning documentary "Why Johnny Don't Know," which examined the failure of students to read and directly led to legislation by the State of Florida that mandated reading and writing assignments in the public schools.

In 1979, she became Metro-Dade County's Communications Director where she functioned as an assistant to the County Manager. During her tenure, the Decade of Progress Bond program was built, bringing to fruition the Metrorail system, an expansion of the public parks and libraries and the completion of the Metro-Dade Cultural Plaza.

Winick became the Executive Assistant City Manager of Miami in 1986, making her the highest-ranked woman in the administrative arm of the Miami government. It was during this time with the city that she helped bring the HEAT to Miami as a member of the Greater Miami Chamber of Commerce Ad Hoc Committee.

GUIDING THE HEAT'S FUTURE

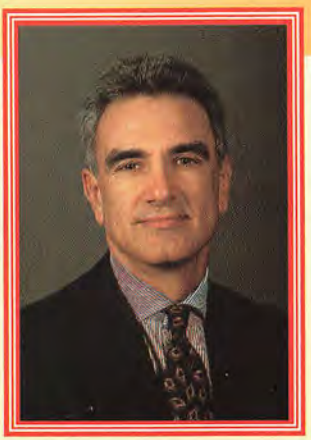
She joined the HEAT in 1987 as the team's Vice President, Administration, the highest ranking woman (at that time) in the National Basketball Association and played an instrumental role in bringing the HEAT into existence. In 1989, she was promoted to Executive Vice President and was named to her current position Executive Vice President, Business Operations in February of 1995.

With the HEAT she is in charge of the team's front office and is responsible for all aspects of the franchise's business operations. She has supervised many of the HEAT's accomplishments during its existence. including the team's award as the American Marketing Association Marketer of the Year for South Florida in 1989, its hosting of the 1990 All-Star Weekend, the NBA's premiere showcase event, and the franchise's recognition as being among the leaders in sports in customer service, game presentation and overall operation.

COMMITTED TO THE COMMUNITY

Winick has also been an active participant in the cultural community of South Florida. She is a past Chairman of the Metro-Dade Cultural Affairs Council and a founding member of the Miami City Ballet. Winick is also a member of the Orange Bowl Committee and the Friars' Club. She served as co-chairman of the Media Relations Committee of the Summit of the Americas. She also serves on the Executive Committee of the Greater Miami Convention and Visitors Bureau.

She is the mother of two children; Margot, a University of Miami graduate who works for the Miami Herald, and Graham, a recent graduate of New York University's Tisch Film School who works at the Dade County Film & Television office. She resides on Miami Beach.



Dave Wohl

Executive Vice President, Basketball Operations

One day after purchasing the HEAT, new owner Micky Arison made a significant move to improve the direction of the franchise by hiring Dave Wohl as Executive Vice President, Basketball Operations. Arison's hiring brought back to Miami one of the finest young minds in the NBA.

MAKING THE HEAT THE NBA'S BEST

"We want to have people feel that wearing the HEAT uniform is something special. We want this to be a franchise players want to come and play for. It's a great city with so much to offer. All we need to do is make the franchise great," Wohl said when he was hired on February 14, 1995.

The 45-year-old brings to Miami more than 23 years of experience on every level of the NBA. He is in his second tenure with the HEAT, having served as a scout prior to the inaugural season, an assistant coach during Miami's first three years and the team's radio and television analyst in 1991-92.

A WEALTH OF NBA EXPERIENCE

Before joining the HEAT, Wohl was head coach of the N.J. Nets for 2½ seasons (1985-87). Considered a "thinking man's coach," Wohl went to the Nets after a three-year stint with the LA Lakers as an assistant to Pat Riley. He was an intricate part of their success story, helping capture the 1985 NBA Championship. Wohl joined the Lakers after serving as an assistant with the Milwaukee Bucks and Coach Don Nelson for three seasons, during which time the Bucks won three division titles. His assistant coaching duties also included stops with the Sacramento Kings and L.A. Clippers.

Before entering the coaching ranks, Wohl spent seven seasons as a player that began when he was taken in the third round of the 1971 NBA Draft by the Philadelphia 76ers. During his career, Wohl played in 410 games and scored 2,553 points for five different teams (Philadelphia 76ers, Portland Trailblazers, Buffalo Braves, Houston Rockets and NY-NJ Nets).

AN IVY LEAGUE BEGINNING

A graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, Wohl was a two-time All-Ivy selection at guard and led the Quakers to two Ivy League titles and two NCAA Tournament appearances. He has written articles for Sports Illustrated and The National Sports Daily.

Wohl and his wife, Elena, have a daughter, Natalie (I), and live in Coral Gables, FL.

Randy Pfund

Executive Vice President, Player Personnel

Another new addition to the HEAT, but a familiar one to President and Head Coach Pat Riley, is Randy Pfund. As Executive Vice President Player Personnel, his duties involve player personnel and college and pro scouting as well as helping to develop the current HEAT roster while keeping an eye on the future of the franchise.

TWO NBA CHAMPIONSHIPS MARK HIS SUCCESS

The Wheaton, IL, native brings a wealth of experience on all levels of professional basketball to the HEAT, having worked in the National Basketball Association since 1985. His NBA career began when he joined the Los Angeles Lakers as a scout and administrator for then–head coach Pat Riley. Pfund held that position for seven years and helped the club win a pair of NBA Championships.

Generally considered one of the best in the NBA, Pfund got his break in 1992 when he succeeded Mike Dunleavy as the Lakers' top man. He posted a mark of 66-80 in two seasons and led his 1992-93 team to the Lakers' 17th consecutive post-season appearance. That was capped by a remarkable playoff performance that captured the attention of the entire NBA when LA came within a whisker of upsetting the eventual Western Conference Champion Phoenix Suns.

HIS HARD WORK ALWAYS PAYS OFF

Pfund's induction into coaching came in the mid-1970s at Glenbard South High School in Illinois. While serving in that capacity for two years, he sought a position in college and joined Chet Kammerer as a volunteer assistant at Westmont College in Santa Barbara, CA. His hard work and determination were rewarded when Kammerer made him a full-time assistant at the school three years later.

PFUND AND RILEY ARE A SOLID COMBINATION

During his tenure at Westmont, Pfund met Bill Bertka, who hired Pfund on a part-time basis for his scouting service. Impressed with Pfund's work, Bertka recommended him to Pat Riley, who was coaching the Lakers. Riley hired Pfund and the two worked together for five years until Riley left for New York in 1991.

History has a way of repeating itself and it did this summer when Riley brought Pfund to the HEAT, citing Pfund's extensive experience in scouting and administration as the keys to his decision.

A SOLID BACKGROUND

In high school, Pfund starred in basketball and football at North High School in Wheaton, IL. He earned honorable mention All-American honors in basketball at Wheaton College where his father, Lee, was the head coach.

Eric Woolworth

General Counsel

Eric Woolworth joined the HEAT as General Counsel following the 1995-96 season. As General Counsel, he is responsible for all of the day-to-day legal matters affecting the team. On the business side of team operations, Woolworth is involved in corporate, organizational and strategic planning issues as well as being the primary interface with the NBA' s legal department.

Prior to joining the HEAT in May of 1995, Woolworth practiced law in Washington, D.C., most recently with the firm of Swidler & Berlin. He has experience in corporate, environmental and intellectual property law as well as lobbying and litigation. He left Washington to join the Miami HEAT.

Woolworth is a cum laude graduate of both Georgetown University and Georgetown University Law Center. He resides in Miami with his wife, Jocelyn, an Assistant United States Attorney for the Southern District of Florida.

Alan Fein

General Counsel

As General Counsel, Alan Fein is responsible for negotiations involving player contacts, media license agreements, litigation and along with Eric Woolworth, who is "in-house counsel," all other legal issues involving the operation of this NBA basketball team.

Fein has been General Counsel for the HEAT since the team's inception and was a driving force behind Miami's acquisition of an NBA franchise. In 1984 he chaired the NBA Subcommittee of the Miami Sports and Exhibition Authority, whose specified charge was realized with the NBA's announcement that Miami would be awarded a basketball franchise.

He has served as Chairman of the Metro-Dade Cultural Affairs Council, has worked in many levels of government, including staff positions in the White House, Congress and the Florida Legislature, and has been a frequent contributor to the Op-Ed pages of our local newspapers. In addition to representing the HEAT, Fein is a well-known commercial litigator representing a number of South Florida's major corporations and financial institutions.

Fein is an honors' graduate of the Wharton School of Finance and Commerce of the University of Pennsylvania and received his J.D. with honors from Georgetown University Law Center in 1979. He lives with his wife Susan Westfall, a playwright, and their son Jake (2) on Key Biscayne, FL.

Sammy Schulman

Vice President/Chief Financial Officer

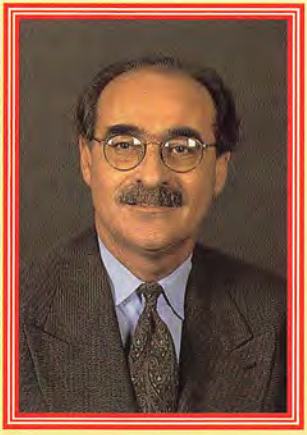
One of the club's original employees, Schulman has been with the HEAT for eight years. As Vice President/Chief Financial Officer, Schulman is responsible for the overall accounting, budgeting and treasury functions of the club. He reports to the Executive Vice President, Basketball Operations on league policy issues primarily involving the NBA's salary cap and collective bargaining agreement. Other areas responsibility include assisting with player and sponsor contracts, developing and maintaining financial reports and operating budgets, insurance, computers and all human resource functions for the club.

Prior to joining the HEAT in November of 1987, Schulman spent five years working for the accounting firm of Peat Marwick Main & Co. in Dallas, where his duties included being a manager on the audit staff. A Certified Public Accountant, Schulman is a member of the Florida State Board of Public Accountancy as well as the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants.

Schulman received a bachelor's degree in accounting and graduated from the University of Texas in May of 1982. He and his wife, Elizbeth (Ibby), and their twin daughters, Brittany and Amanda, live in Hollywood, FL.

Mark Pray

Vice President, Communications



Mark Pray begins his eighth season with the HEAT and his first in a new capacity as the HEAT's Vice President, Communications. Pray's expanded responsibilities in this newly-created position include heading up the public relations, community relations, customer relations and broadcasting departments. Pray, who had been the HEAT's Director of Public Relations since its inaugural season, will take the team into the 20th century as the HEAT increase its presence in South Florida.

Before joining the HEAT, Pray was the Public Relations Director for the Washington Bullets for 10 years. He was elected by his peers as president of the NBA Public Relations Directors Association in 1986 and is a past member of the NBA's PR Advisory Council.

HEAT IN 1994 PLAYOFFS

In 1994, the MIAMI HEAT made the NBA playoffs for the second time in the last three seasons clinching a berth in the playoffs by defeating the Atlanta Hawks 94-89 in the final home game of the season.

THE HEAT was then defeated by Atlanta by a 3-2 series margin in their opening-round playoff series. By taking the #1 Atlanta Hawks to the deciding fifth game, Miami became only the fourth #8 seed to take the series to the fifth game in the 11 years (since 1983-84) since the NBA went to the five-game, first-round series format.

Steve Smith led Miami in scoring with 19.2 ppg and Rony Seikaly led the team in rebounding with 9.4 rpg.

Miami won its first playoff game in franchise history by defeating the Atlanta Hawks 93-88 in the opening game. Steve Smith led all scorers with 22 points and Glen Rice had a team-high and playoff career-high 10 rebounds. Miami's defense was excellent holding the Hawks to 88 points on .405 from the field. Atlanta scored just 15 points in the second quarter, and THE HEAT held the Hawks without a field goal in the final 7:09 minutes of the game. The win over the Hawks was also Miami's first road win in Atlanta.

In a game marred by a bench-clearing brawl, Steve Smith's 24 points and nine rebounds were not enough for Miami, as the Atlanta Hawks evened the series at 1-1 with a 104-86 win over THE HEAT. The brawl came with 2:34 remaining in the third quarter and led to the ejections of Miami's Grant Long and Keith Askins and Atlanta's Doug Edwards. Long was suspended with out pay for one game and fined $10,000, Edwards was suspended without pay for two games and fined $10,000 and Askins was suspended without pay for three games and fined $15,000.

THE HEAT got another playoff career-high in scoring from Steve Smith, as his 25 points led all scorers in Miami's 90-86 win over the Atlanta Hawks. The victory gave THE HEAT a 2-1 series lead over the Hawks. Rony Seikaly had 12 points and a career and franchise playoff high 20 rebounds.

Atlanta's Mookie Blaylock got back to his All-Star form, leading all scorers with 29 points, as the Hawks tied the series at two games apiece with a win over Miami 103-89 @ Miami Arena. Miami was led by Bimbo Coles who had 18 points, seven assists and four rebounds.

Despite the efforts of Grant Long, the Hawks were able to defeat Miami 102-91 @ Atlanta and won the first-round playoff series with THE HEAT by a 3-2 margin. Long had playoff career-highs in points (22), rebounds (10), free throws made (12) and attempted (14) and tied his playoff career-high in field goals attempted (15). The Hawks were led by 24 points and 12 boards from Kevin Willis and 13 points and a playoff career-high 18 assists from Mookie Blaylock.

HEAT IN 1992 PLAYOFFS

In 1992, the MIAMI HEAT became the first of the four recent expansion teams to make the playoffs. Miami faced the Chicago Bulls in the first round of the best-of-five-game playoff series losing three games to zero.

THE HEAT qualified for the playoffs on the final day of the regular season (April 19). Miami ended the season with a 38-44 record and needed the Atlanta Hawks to lose to the Cleveland Cavaliers in their final game to set up a tie between Atlanta and Miami for the final spot in the 1992 Playoffs. The Hawks lost that final game, a thrilling 112-108 Cleveland win, to the Cavs setting up a tie between Atlanta and Miami. THE HEAT earned the playoff spot on the basis of the second tiebreaker, a superior conference record (27-29/Miami, 23-33/Atlanta), after the teams split the season series.

The playoff week did not pass without incident for THE HEAT. Miami's leading scorer, Glen Rice, split the toenail on his right great toe which hobbled him in the playoffs. Despite the injury, Rice was Miami's second leading scorer in the postseason averaging 19.0 ppg. Rony Seikaly led Miami in both scoring and rebounding in the playoffs with 20.7 points and 10.7 rebounds. Steve Smith finished with 16.0 points and 5.0 assists.

Miami opened its first ever playoff series in Chicago Stadium on Friday, April 24. The Bulls won 113-94 behind a superior effort from Michael Jordan who scored 46 points to lead all scorers. Miami was led by Steve Smith (19 points/7 assists), Glen Rice (17 points) and Rony Seikaly (14 points/11 rebounds).

THE HEAT made its first appearance on network television in Game 2 on Sunday, April 26. In a game telecast on NBC-TV, Miami lost to Chicago 120-90 at Chicago Stadium. The Bulls were led by Michael Jordan (33 points) and Scottie Pippen (30 points) while Rony Seikaly (26 points) and Glen Rice (15 points) led THE HEAT.

The playoffs moved to Miami in Game 3 on Wednesday, April 29 as THE HEAT hosted its first ever home playoff game. The scene inside Miami Arena was electric as THE HEAT gave away playoff clackers to the 15,008 fans that jammed the building. The noise inside the arena was deafening as Miami jumped out to a 33-19 first quarter lead. However, the Bulls got another magical performance from Michael Jordan as Chicago chipped away at THE HEAT's lead to win the game 119-114 and the series 3-0. All five starters for Miami scored in double figures led by Glen Rice (25 points), Rony Seikaly (22 points/12 rebounds) and Steve Smith (19 points/6 assists). Brian Shaw had 18 points and six assists and Grant Long scored 17 points. Only three Bulls scored in double figures led by Michael Jordan's 56 points. Scottie Pippen scored 31 points and B.J. Armstrong had 13 points.

NBA IN THE COMMUNITY

The NBA, its teams and players share a commitment to supporting programs dedicated to improving the quality of life for all people.

For years, the NBA has created and implemented programs league-wide to address important social issues, with special emphasis on helping young people. This year's youth-based education programs will include: the NBA Stay in School program, created to encourage students to graduate from high school through school visits by NBA players and coaches; and conflict resolution workshops designed to train teachers and educate students in methods to resolve conflict without resorting to violence. Public service announcements and educational materials will also focus on anti-violence/conflict resolution message.

The HEAT helps raise educational funds for high school seniors

The NBA continues its support of Black History Month each year.

In addition, the NBA's 29 teams are making a difference, across the United States and Canada, through active involvement in a multitude of outreach efforts pertinent to the needs of their respective communities.

The Miami HEAT receives exceptional support from its fans and the city of Miami, and the organization recognizes its responsibility to give back to the community. Our commitment to Miami is to be actively involved in programs that improve the quality of life of citizens in the area through the team's multitude of events.

MIAMI HEAT CHARITABLE FUND

The Miami HEAT Charitable Fund, the HEAT's non-profit charity organization, was created as a vehicle through which the Miami HEAT could give something back to this community by raising funds for a variety of causes. The majority of funds are donated to the following organizations: Each year, the Miami HEAT provides tickets to local schools as part of its corporate education program. Youngsters that would otherwise not be able to attend games are able to take in a game and meet Burnie, the team's mascot.

Junior Achievement

Each year, the club holds the Miami HEAT Charity golf tournament to benefit Junior Achievement. This year more than $80,000 was raised to help benefit Junior Achievement, whose goal is to provide programs for youngsters that focus on drop-out prevention, self-esteem and work force readiness skills.

SCHOOL PROGRAMS

Shoot for the Stars

The Stay-In-School program was developed seven years ago to encourage youngsters to improve attendance and become a positive role model at the school. More than 160 schools participate each year with rewards ranging from tickets to Miami HEAT home games to the Stay in School Jam. Each school receives a visit from ex-NBA star Wali Jones, who is the HEAT's Vice-President of Community Relations. The spokesperson for this stay in school program is the Heat's Keith Askins. This season, as a reward for good attendance, the top attendance school each month will receive a visit from Askins.

Miami Herald /Miami Heat Newspaper in Education program

The HEAT, along with the Miami Herald, sponsor a geography/educational program called "Slam Jam Geography." Students follow the Miami Heat throughout the season using the newspaper while learning along the way. The program focuses on elementary school children in an effort to increase math and science skills.

HOLIDAY PROGRAMS

Each Thanksgiving and Christmas, the Miami HEAT donates money and time to assist hospitals and homeless centers throughout the Miami community. At Thanksgiving, players attend homeless centers to serve food. At Christmas, Burnie and the players attend several hospitals in an attempt to icheer upî those youngsters that will be spending Christmas in the hospital.

SUMMER CAMPS

Each summer, the Miami HEAT provides free day camps to young people in the Dade, Broward and Palm Beach counties. The camps involve the teaching of lifestyle skills in addition to fundamental basketball skills.

FAN SERVICES

Burnie, the Heat mascot and the Miami HEAT dancers make frequent appearances throughout the community during the year. They attend community parades, walk-a-thons, school assemblies, children's hospital visits, private parties, fundraising benefits and more. When schedules permit, players, coaches and management staff make public appearances for charity events, autograph sessions, speaking engagements and other various events.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Fans interested in receiving general HEAT information may send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the HEAT community service department to receive a Kids club application, fan pack or other information. Please note that any and all of these services provided by the HEAT Community Services Department are subject to availability and require at least six weeks advance written notice.
